GENERAL NEWS

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN

Fraud and Remorse

New York Jan [illegible]—Frauds on [illegible] Exchange to the amount of [illegible] have been discovered. [illegible] Benjamin C Bogert who held [illegible] of the Exchange for many years and was highly respected merchant [illegible] confidence was felt. Bogert did not appear at the Exchange [illegible] at his office [illegible] every [illegible] was made [illegible] day afternoon [illegible] city. It is thought that he was [illegible] his disgrace. He may have committed suicide. The discovery of the defalcation was due to the determination of the finance committee of the Produce Exchange to transfer the account of the Exchange from one bank to another. Bogert is supposed to have used the money which he took in his private business.

A Profitable Railroad

New York Jan 8—The Boston T[illegible] says: The recent rise in the Atchison, one of the railroad stocks has been looked upon by many as unprecedented in the history of the Boston stock market and is therefore unwarranted. This is a very superficial view of the case. The fact is that the increase of the earnings of this road in 18[illegible] over [illegible] was $1,210,000, and in 1879 over [illegible]. A cash dividend of 3 per cent. has been declared on the stock, which is the second cash dividend, the first having been paid in August last.

The Evening Post in its financial article says: New York has very little interest in this company, but the fact that an agreement to hold the new Pacific railroad has been made between it and the Lake Shore and San Francisco company, the securities of which are mostly held here or have been until lately, makes whatever concerns the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe of interest on this market.

New Orleans' Great Day

New Orleans Jan 8—The anniversary of the battle of New Orleans was celebrated by a solemn mass at the cathedral, parade of the military and the firing of salutes. Flags were displayed throughout the city.

Deadwood Barely Escapes Devastation

Deadwood, D T Jan 8—The escape of Deadwood from being totally destroyed by fire a second time this morning was most miraculous. About midnight the timber on the hillside on Shoemaker Gulch caught fire from a miner's torch, and fanned by a high wind, spread through that gulch into the "[illegible]" over the divide into City Creek and Forest Hill and inside the city limits. Only by the superhuman efforts of the firemen and citizens, it was got under control with the loss of only a few cabins and some woodwork. The wind blew almost a hurricane and did considerable damage in different parts of the city. All stores were cleared of goods, and if the fire had continued it would have reached empty buildings. The damage to property by hasty removal was great and will amount to many thousands of dollars.

Georgia Races.

Augusta, Jan 9.—The dash of one and an eighth mile was won by Gabriel, Ben Hill second, Aaron third, time 1 59½. Mile heats won by Round Dance, Lerol second, time, 1:45.

A Compliment to Thurman.

Columbus, Jan. 9—The democratic caucus agreed to vote for Thurman for senator.

The Chicago Strike

Chicago, Jan 8—The butcher's union held an open air meeting at Dexter Park this afternoon, which was attended by all the strikers and workingmen from all parts of the city. The aggregate attendance being about 100 000. The meeting was addressed by the prime movers in the strike, and was enthusiastic and unanimous on the question of continuing the organization. A vote of confidence in the officers was passed and all the speeches were in favor of holding out. There was an underlying sentiment which looked strongly to compromise with the packers on any basis short of giving up the union. It is reported that a man was shot in a quarrel growing out of the strike. No particulars.

WASHINGTON CITY.

An American Citizen Released from Imprisonment in Peru.

Washington, Jan 8—Advices have been received at the navy department from Iquique, Peru, stating that an American citizen named A. L. Gordon, who has been held a prisoner at Iquique since June last, has been received on board the U S steamer Alaska. Gordon was arrested on a charge of being a Chilean spy and held a close prisoner by order of the president of Peru. The circumstances connected with the release of Gordon are reported by the commander of the Alaska as follows: "Learning that he was almost in a state of starvation I called on Col Reas, commanding the city, for the purpose of requesting permission to send a supply of provisions to the prison for the use of Gordon. To my great surprise Col Reas said that I could bring the prisoner on board this vessel. I accepted the proposition and Gordon was delivered to me by Col. Reas."

A Railroad Aid Scheme.

Washington, Jan 8—Among the bills introduced to day was one by Jones of Louisiana, to repeal the twenty-second section of the act to incorporate the Texas Pacific railroad company and to aid the construction of its road and for other purposes and to declare its rights, privileges and lands granted by such section to the New Orleans, Baton Rouge & Vicksburg road forfeited and that the section be re-enacted in favor of the New Orleans Pacific railroad company.

A Filibuster Movement

There has been considerable talk at the Manhattan and Union clubs within a few days about a formidable filibuster movement having for its object the severance of the Rio Grande states of Mexico from that republic and placing them as speedily as possible under an independent government styled the Republic of Rio Grande. News was received from there yesterday apparently confirming the gossip, which creates a lively interest.

Sharon's Pay—The Secretary of the Senate will "See About It."

New York, Nov 8—The Herald's Washington special says that Secretary Burch of the senate, has decided to test the question whether a senator can spend by far the larger portion of his time at home and draw his full pay upon appearing in Washington. Sharon came unexpectedly to-day, but whether he has civil or legislative business it is not yet known. He was engaged in showing friends about the city. Burch says that in case he applies for his back pay he will decline to let him have it until he can receive a formal opinion in regard to the legality of such payment from the first comptroller of the treasury, and probably also from the senate committee on judiciary. The law is very explicit on this subject though by custom it has been allowed in fact to become a dead letter. It is made the duty of the secretary of the senate to deduct from the pay of the senators a proper proportion for every day they are absent from other cause than sickness. It has become the practice to overlook this law in the case of absentees of a reasonable length. But no other such case as that of Sharon's has been presented of late years.

Supreme Court Proceedings

Washington Jan 9—The following business was transacted by the supreme court to day: The Great Western Quicksilver Mining Co plaintiff vs R F Knox and Joseph Osborne defendants in error to the circuit court of the United States for the district of California. On motion of George Harding counsel for plaintiff in error case dismissed with costs.

Wm Frenough plaintiff in error vs city and county of San Francisco in error to the supreme court of California. The controversy in this case relates to the title to a certain tract of land in the city of San Francisco embraced within the limits of land granted said city by the act of congress of March 8th 1866. Argued by S L Wilson for defendant in error and submitted by Walter Vandyke for plaintiff in error.

Paying Old Debts.

Washington Jan 8—Kernan introduced a bill in the senate to-day of which the following is a synopsis:

Whereas The confederate congress ordered the sequestration and confiscation of all debts due from inhabitants of southern states engaged in the rebellion to creditors residing in loyal states and

Whereas Under Gen Butler's order of June 8 1862, there was seized in various banks at New Orleans large sums of money, proceeds of confiscation of northern credits deposited to credit in federal states receivers which sum ought to be were [illegible] confiscated and [illegible]

THE VILLAINOUS UTES

Official Correspondence made Public—The Outrage on the Captives—Startling Opinions

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN

Washington Jan 8—Correspondence sent to the senate by Secretary Schurz [illegible] regard to the Indian troubles [illegible] voluminous [illegible]. Much of it has already been published but a portion is now made public for the first time. On Nov [illegible] Commissioner Adams who was then at [illegible] telegraphed Secretary Schurz that the examination under oath of the late captives disclosed most brutal treatment of them in which Douglass and Johnson were implicated and which was unknown and unexpected to Commissioner Adams and as he believed to Chief Ouray also, that he feared that with living witnesses against them the Indian would not obey Ouray's orders. He also expressed an opinion formed after hearing these witnesses that troops would probably have to be used against them soon. He closed his dispatch by advising a forward movement of cavalry at Fort Garland to Indian creek. On Nov 5th Secretary Schurz replied that he had conferred with General Sherman about the movement of troops and says that both himself and Gen Sherman agree in the opinion expressed in the dispatch which Gen Sherman had just received from Col Mackenzie in which he says:

"My own experience and judgment leads me to believe that any such movement until the peace commission has entirely completed its labors will be particularly objectionable."

Secretary Schurz also says in this dispatch: "Your apprehension that Douglass and Johnson with living witnesses against them will not obey Ouray's orders and will make the use of troops necessary, seems to leave out of accounts the circumstances that those witnesses were in their power and they surrendered them unconditionally." The future location of the Utes will be calculated to somewhat mitigate the punishment of the guilty parties.

On November 28 Commissioner Adams telegraphed the secretary that Agent Stanley at Los Pinos was interfering with the work of the commission by keeping up business relations with Chief Douglass and other White river Utes. On the 30th Agent Stanley was ordered by Secretary Schurz to report to Washington.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Violence in Ireland.

London, Jan. 9—There are some further reports of disturbance by a riotous assemblage in resistance to process servers in the counties of Mayo Galway and Sligo but no serious conflicts have occurred. The facts are that the police who were protecting the process servers were assaulted and stoned by a mob which had assembled to prevent the service of processes. The police fired four shots over the heads of the mob and then charged with fixed bayonets whereupon the mob fled. There were reports among the peasantry that six or seven of their number had been injured but the authorities have been unable to find any of them. Four ringleaders of the mob have since been arrested and committed for trial. Owing to the forbearance of the police the process servers have in most cases been compelled to abandon the effort to do their duty. A paragraph telegraphed here about Parnell's speech at Newark leads to the inference that exaggerated accounts of the affair at Carraro, county Galway, on Friday last, have reached us.

England Adopts a More Liberal Policy Toward Ireland.

Dublin Jan 9—The relief fund of the duchess of Marlboro now amounts to £14 800.

The government has made an important change in its policy in respect to the condition of Ireland. They have resolved to grant loans for the construction of drainage works in distressed districts which are now on the schedule annexed to the circular of the board of works or which may be scheduled from time to time. These loans are to be made upon more liberal terms than heretofore proposed, namely, to be repayable in 35 years or perhaps longer time before repayment shall begin. The government are to bear the expense of such works themselves. They also offer increased inducements to boards of guardians for extension of sanitary works. If these measures be found inadequate to meet the exigency the government will apply to parliament to sanction an appropriation of £2 500 000 out of the church surplus for the prosecution of relief works, to be carried on by the board of works and to authorize the formation of baronial sessions to determine the nature of such works.

Albanian Attack

Vienna Jan. 9—Political Correspondence publishes the following telegram from Cettinje under reserve: The Albanians of Gusinje have marched out to oppose the Montenegrins, the latter having strict orders to avoid a conflict retired but the Albanians attacked them.

The Czarina Better

London Jan. 9—A dispatch says the Czarina is better.

Programme Fixed

Paris Jan 9—Council of ministers decided upon a cabinet programme to be communicated to the chambers in the form of a ministerial statement not a presidential message.

Not Withdrawn.

The statement that Count DeSia her minister at [illegible] has withdrawn his resignation is unfounded.

VICTORIA'S RENEGADES

Pursuit of the Savages by Co-operating American and Mexican Forces

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN)

San Francisco Jan 8—A dispatch from Tucson Arizona, says: To-day Lieut [illegible] turned over the renegade Indians which surrendered at Ricker to Acting Agent Maj Chaffee of San Carlos who will place a strong guard over them. An important military move is now on foot to capture or crush Victoria and his band of warriors about eighty five. They are now in Old Mexico. Mexican troops have marched against them with a view of forcing them to fight or flee to New Mexico. Most of the available troops in Arizona are being concentrated at Fort Bowie. Gen Carr commanding troops in the field arrived there to day. He and Maj Morrow of New Mexico are co-operating with the Mexican forces. The Arizona troops will leave at once for the line of New Mexico to intercept Victoria. Should they strike his trail it will be followed irrespective of geographical lines into the interior of Mexico. Victoria and his band are [illegible] New Mexico. Their capture or defeat settles the Indian question in the territory. They have been on the war path since 18[illegible].

There is great excitement in [illegible] over the [illegible] The other day the police [illegible] [illegible] was so astonished and delighted with the novelty that going out he gathered a newspaper full, brought it into the house and laid it upon the mantel. An inquiry as to the use to which he meant to put it evolved the pleased answer that he was going to send it to a friend in Egypt.

The Ohio boys are bound to make more trouble in the world than their mothers are manifesting a Spartan determination to help them. According to the statistics of births in 18[illegible] out of [illegible] children born there were 1666 more boys than girls. And every one of those boys who survives the whooping cough and measles will want to be president of the United States.

THE MAINE MUDDLE

A First [illegible]

[illegible]

The Supreme [illegible]

[illegible] Mr Ha[illegible] [illegible]

A story is stated that the fusionists will to-morrow deprive Eugene Hale of his seat, but on what grounds it is not known.

Garcelon for Governor

Gov Garcelon's term of office expires in the morning. The president of the senate James D Lamson, will temporarily fill the place. Garcelon is talked of for governor and it is thought that Smith's friends will insist that he should receive that office. The fusionists held a secret meeting to night and determined to stand to the position gained.

A Warrior gets Out

Adjutant General Leavitt has resigned and will leave for Washington to-morrow. His place will temporarily be filled by Major Folsom.

Some Stir among the Workers

Portland Jan 9—A dispatch to the Argus says the republicans propose to test the legality of the organization of the house and bring the matter in some way before the supreme court. One way mentioned being by injunction to prevent the treasurer of the state from paying the mileage and salaries of members. It is said Blaine had a violent fit on Wednesday night brought on by overwork. Physicians were with him five hours. Startling developments are expected when the bribery committee gets to work.

Confusion Worse Confounded

In the house the speaker invoked good order and intimated that the scenes enacted yesterday by outsiders would not be repeated. He had scarcely finished speaking when the doors were opened, the windows thrown up and the impatient crowd rushed in. After the people entered quiet was restored, but at one time trouble seemed imminent. The records of yesterday were read and showed the fact that not more than 72 votes were thrown for any candidate voted for.

Republicans Coming in

Mr Hale announced the presence of 60 certificated members being the republicans who withdrew yesterday who were ready to be qualified. They were conducted to the council chamber, but Acting Governor Lamson declined to qualify them at present as he did not exactly know the extent of his powers in that direction but should inform himself. The house then quietly adjourned.

The members will undoubtedly be qualified to-morrow—Mr Sprout of Veazie among the number who will act with the republicans giving the republicans a majority in the popular branch should the members from the five cities be admitted.

THE PACIFIC COAST.

CALIFORNIA.

Death of Emperor Norton

San Francisco Jan 8—Emperor Norton one of the best known characters of San Francisco died suddenly to day. He was walking along Dupont street and fell to the pavement. He was assisted to his feet and placed against a building to rest, when he died without a struggle.

The Con. Va. Mine

At the annual meeting of the Consolidated Virginia Mining Company, this afternoon 450 758 shares were represented. The officers remain as heretofore. The secretary's report showed receipts during the year of $2 963 617 of which $2 481,358 was the gross yield of the mine for 1879. The balance on hand is $67,750. A resolution was passed indorsing the acts of the board of directors during the past year.

Death from Narcotic Poison.

San Francisco, Jan 8—Mrs Mitchell widow of the late William Mitchell, tax collector died last evening. The death of Mitchell a few months ago so upset the nervous system of Mrs Mitchell that she had been induced to resort to the use of a narcotic to quiet her nerves. At 10 o'clock last night it was noticed by the members of her family that she was laboring under the influence of narcotics in a dangerous degree having evidently taken an overdose. Dr O'Neil, who resides close by was summoned, but pronounced the case hopeless, the drug having found its way into the blood. She died in about an hour afterward.

Gov Perkins' Inauguration

Gov Perkins was inaugurated at Sacramento to day at 1 o'clock with great ceremony. The procession was large and imposing. The governor delivered his inaugural in the assembly chamber.

NEVADA.

Fatal Explosion at Virginia City

Virginia City Jan 8—This afternoon an old boiler which had been prepared as the receptacle of compressed acid, was being tested at the Ophir works, its head blew out, striking J W Sounstine in the breast. He cannot live. James Brown chief engineer of the mine was cut in the head, but not dangerously and Thomas Woly was also hurt.

GOLDENDALE NOTES.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN)

GOLDENDALE Jan 10

The general health of the people in this locality is improving.

Rev Spanswick is conducting a protracted religious meeting here. I understand there is considerable interest manifested.

The Rock Creek and Alder Creek country to the eastward of us is rapidly settling up. Yet there is plenty of room for more.

R O Dunbar has disposed of his town property and purchased the farm of Dr A C Helm about four miles from town.

Paper mail from the Willamette reached us on the evening of the 7th for the first time since the commencement of the freeze.

Thomas Johnson Esq the pioneer merchant of this place has bought the saw mill of Fresby & Frask. This makes his second saw mill in this valley.

The opening of the Goldendale academy has been postponed [illegible] the [illegible] month on account of the work on the building not being completed.

Charley Phillips city marshal was married last evening to Miss Cora Parrot. Judge R O Dunbar tied the knot [illegible] the Odd Fellows Hall after which all the friends were invited to oysters at Harper's restaurant.

[illegible]

Dr [illegible] Helm [illegible] Hon M V Harper is also spoken of [illegible] either of these gentlemen would make a good mayor for us.

The officers of Alamo Lodge No 15 I O O F were installed last evening and are as follows viz: Joseph Sanders N G; C M Duval V G; M V Harper P S; A P Ward R S; Thomas Johnson treasurer; C F Maxon R S N G; F B Wise L S N G; W H Miller R S V G; T J Masters L S V G; Dr P G Hill W; T B Royal I G.

A fierce gale prevailed at Walla Walla on the [illegible] prostrating fences and doing a great deal of miscellaneous damage.

CONGRESSIONAL

House

[illegible]

[illegible] Randall [illegible] committees [illegible] committees. They had however believed that [illegible] the river and harbor appropriations [illegible]. Appropriations for rivers and harbors had grown with rapidity of late. All stimulus to rivers and harbors has been allowed the treasury would have been bankrupt long ago.

There was a humorous and spirited passage between Randall and [illegible] in which O'Neil affirmed that Randall had neglected to provide for his [illegible]. That his section [illegible] not approve [illegible] and that he came back to Congress by his individual and personal exertions. O'Neil ran on eulogizing Elihu Washburne, former chairman of the committee on commerce. McCook asked if this was a Washburne boom.

Stevenson defended the action of the committee on rules and particularly favored the rule which referred the river and harbor bills to the committee of appropriations for revision.

The committee rose.

Several executive communications were appropriately referred. Adjourned.

COL. HENRY W. JANES.

Now a Resident of New Jersey—Has Issued a Pamphlet for Circulation Among his Friends.

CLAIMS TO BE PERFECTLY SANE AND DESIRES TO BE REINSTATED TO ACTIVE SERVICE IN THE ARMY

Col Henry W Janes well known in military and social circles on the Pacific coast who was reported insane some time ago has been residing in New Jersey since his retirement from active service in the army. Col Janes has recently issued a pamphlet for circulation among his friends, of his military record, what was done to him and what he desires to be done for him. It is his earnest desire to be reinstated in the army and be allowed to again assume active service. He says that he can establish his claim for fitness for active service and that a board of officers has been designated to examine his case. Col Janes hopes to secure a reversal of the decision that placed him on the retired list. For the benefit of his friends here and elsewhere we publish his pamphlet.

Henry Hayden has commenced the manufacture of bedsteads at Iola.

Recent transfers of town property at Independence show a marked increase in values.

For sale prices at [illegible] Polk county: Wheat $1 02½ per bushel, barley 60 cents, oats 35 cents.

Spence Hill, a gambler who is well known throughout the valley committed suicide last Saturday morning near Albany by cutting his throat.

A new bridge over the Rickreall at Eola is nearly completed. It is six feet higher and a much more substantial and expensive structure than the old bridge.

It is reported that Ami Boyne a young stock raiser of Wasco county was frozen to death about two weeks ago while herding his flocks on Rock creek. He formerly lived in Polk county where his relatives still reside.

There will be a county temperance convention at Dallas January 20th to commence at 10 o'clock A M. All the lodges are requested to send five representatives each. All Good Templars in good standing are invited to attend.

Thos Cook a saloon keeper of The Dalles much respected for many truly good qualities died on the 6th inst.

As soon as the frosty days are over Judge Savage will begin the construction of three brick stores on the north west corner of Court and Main streets at The Dalles. Other brick buildings will be put up in the spring.

Inland Empire: A young man named Blake who is very reputably connected was arrested last Saturday on the charge of having committed an act equivalent to burglary, by secreting himself in the store of McFarland & French, on the previous night. After the store was locked for the night he emerged from his hiding place and stole some cash from the till of the store and a lot of cigars after which he let himself out by the cellar door. A young man named Petty, of Portland was also implicated in the theft.

Richard Nolan, who died recently at The Dalles was on board Admiral Nelson's ship the Victory at the great and decisive battle of Trafalgar, which was fought on the 21st day of October 1805. Nolan was a native of the Isle of Malta and joined the ship during her stay at that famous rendezvous. He served as a "powder monkey" during the battle being a trifle over 14 years of age. Although he lived at The Dalles several years he never spoke of his service in that distinguished battle, and it was not known till after his death even by his most intimate friends.

The wife of W E Kirkman, of Walla Walla died on the 1st inst.

The Knights of Pythias have a prosperous lodge at Walla Walla, highly respectable in the number and character of its members.

A half finished dwelling house at Walla Walla owned by a "fast girl," (according to the Watchman) named Smith burned down on the 2d inst. Loss, $400.

Enterprise Lodge I. O. O. F., of Walla Walla has elected the following list of officers to serve during 1880: C C McCoy N G; Henry Kaeber, V. G; James Jacobs Secy; & W Evarts, Treas; Trustees—E Baumeister, H Wintler and Chas. Abel.

Several houses and stores were recently burglarized at Walla Walla. Mr Middaugh, Frank M. Colt, Adams Bros and Creget Bros have each lost articles by the enterprise of thieves. Two parties E. J. Barrar and Daniel Dobson have been committed on charges in the above mentioned cases and are now in jail so it is hoped that the annoyance will cease for a time at least.

At Walla Walla on the 7th inst a little boy named Wm. Turner, a new comer, threw a rock at a party of youngsters who were teasing him and struck the son of Mr Peter Lynch fracturing his skull in a most shocking manner. He now lies in a critical condition and it is hardly probable that he will recover. The boy who threw the rock had no thought of seriously hurting anybody and profoundly regrets the sad result.

The following compliment to Hon Thos H Brents is taken from the Walla Walla Watchman of Jan 9th: It is a deserved endorsement. Delegate Brents is at Washington looking after the interests of his constituents in this territory and friends and foes all join in praise for the good work which he is performing for the good of his country. He is undoubtedly doing his level best and we hope he may be crowned with success as he surely will be if energy and capability receive their just recompense.

Idaho

Idaho Statesman: Last week Snake river was gorged with ice just above the mouth of the Palouse and so solid that the river was crossed upon the ice by teams. Another gorge occurred at Granite point. Several rafts which drifted away were lodged at different points along the river. One of them was completely forced under one of the ice gorges.

A most atrocious and probably fatal affray occurred at the little town of Howell in Marsh basin Idaho on New Year eve, the participants being two Spaniards Mayeo and Oleveous and Messrs Oling and Burke, young gentlemen living in the neighborhood. The latter two had objected to Mayeo's taking part in a ball given that evening and in revenge for the indignity that person and his friend fired upon the young men as they were escorting some ladies home from the party. The ladies hastily retreated and a fierce firing between the parties ensued resulting in the following casualties: Oleveo is got off with a painful wound in one foot; Joe Mayeo the other Spaniard received a severe wound in the thigh and Nathan Harris was dangerously and perhaps fatally wounded. The Spaniards were brought before Judge Chase when they waived examination and were placed under bonds of $500 each to await the action of the grand jury.

An Astounding Discovery

[From [illegible]]

If the statements [illegible] Falb [illegible] America should prove to be well founded we shall have to [illegible]. According to Dr Falb's hypothesis the Old World, Europe, Africa and Asia really constitute the New World. We learn from his own summary of his researches communicated to the Neue Freie Presse of Vienna that after long study of the languages spoken by the Indians in Peru and Bolivia [illegible] in Quichua and Aimara exhibit the most astounding affinities with the Semitic languages and particularly with the Arabic, in which tongue Dr Falb himself has been skilled from his boyhood. Following up this line of his discovery Dr Falb has found [illegible] connecting link with the Aryan roots and [illegible] has ultimately arrived face to face with the surprising revelation that the Semitic roots are universally Aryan. The common elements of all the variants are found in their purest condition in Quichua and Aimara. From which fact Dr Falb derives the conclusion that the high plains of Peru and Bolivia must be regarded as the point of exit of the present human race. So Adam was an American.

How Bismarck Once Resigned.

[From The Pall Mall Gazette.]

It will be remembered that about the end of March 1877 a report was current that Prince Bismarck had resigned and that his resignation had been accepted by the Emperor William. In M Hansen's Coulisses de la Diplomatie the following account is given of the event. The Emperor William spent the evening of Thursday the 29th of March in the house of Prince Anton Radziwill who is distantly related to the royal family, and there met the Count [illegible] who also is an intimate friend of the Radziwill family. "Well Count," said the Emperor, "are you going to dine off the Easter lamb with Prince Ferdinand on Easter Sunday?" "Certainly your Majesty," replied the Count, "unless Herr Falk confiscates the lamb." "In that case," replied the Emperor, "you need not be under any apprehension for your dinner." "I am however not quite certain," replied the count. "So how can your subjects feel safe when even her majesty the empress has to hide her charitable acts to avoid being annoyed?" "How so Count?" asked the emperor. "Why Sire," replied the count, "the empress gave officially 200 marks (about £10) to the [illegible] nuns who had been expelled from Berlin but secretly her majesty sent 1500 marks." Encouraged by the emperor Count [illegible] cited a great number of [illegible] acts of Herr Falk [illegible] according to the orders of Prince Bismarck. The emperor evidently much annoyed [illegible] next day he sent for Prince Bismarck [illegible] health. A second messenger ordered the prince immediately to appear at the [illegible] unless he were so ill as to have to keep his bed in which case the emperor [illegible] call upon him. Prince Bismarck [illegible] on returning home he at once sent in his resignation.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JAN. 14, 1880

THE VILLAINY IN MAINE.

What has been done in Maine is the consummation of premeditated villainy. Beyond all question the scheme is a far-reaching one. From the beginning of this monstrous fraud the purpose of the conspirators has been to seize the government of the state by electing a democratic or fusionist governor, council and state officers, thus controlling the count of votes again next year, and by a repetition of the present "counting out" to perpetuate their power as long as may be necessary for their main design. The scheme includes a purpose to gerrymander the state by redistricting; to steal its electoral vote, count in five congressmen next fall, and to pack the legislature for 1881 so as to secure the United States senator, then to be elected.

The conspirators have not been moved from their purpose by the decision of the supreme court of the state, under which every point they relied on for pretended justification of their course, was decided against them. All the subterfuges and excuses employed by the governor and his council were brushed aside by the court; and these officials, who claimed that they had been acting in strict accord with the constitution and laws of the state were shown on the contrary to have violated them most grossly in making their partisan returns. The will of the people was set aside on the barest and baldest technicalities. Where there is no doubt of the intention of the voters, only dishonest partisans will throw out the returns or refuse to certify the result. It is gratifying to note that the whole respectable democratic press of the country has joined the independent and republican press in denouncing this outrage. In this circumstance there is hope. For the course taken by this governor of Maine has thrust upon the country a question which takes the precedence of all others, namely, whether cheating is to become the law of American politics. Protests from democratic sources against an infamy which is designed to secure for that party an advantage it could not win at the polls may not have much effect in stopping the present proceedings, but they will be felt in the emphasis of the final condemnation. The mass of the people want justice and fairness, and they will have it. As yet in the present case legal remedies have not been wholly despaired of. Still, no one should longer delude himself with the notion that these conspirators will not play the whole game they have undertaken, if they are able to do it. Yet it must stop, or there will be civil war. A thing like this cannot be repeated or continued. "If," as the New York Herald pointedly says, "a state administration may take advantage of its own shortcomings, thus to set aside the result of an election, and there is no legal remedy, then the people must adopt some other. Civil war is a great evil, but the American people have always thought it preferable to the loss of liberty."

Realizing the untenable infamy of their position, the conspirators are concocting charges of bribery against their opponents, in the hope of changing in this way the overwhelming current of public opinion throughout the country, the weight of which the greatest villains are not too insensible to feel. Hence the statements that one and another of the "counted in" members have been offered large sums of money not to participate in the proceedings of this fraudulent legislature. One member shows the sum of one thousand dollars which he says he thus received. Every statement of this kind should be received with caution, because the man who makes it begins by proclamation of his own scoundrelism; and moreover it is not too much to suppose that men who would take seats in a legislative body to which they notoriously were not elected would not hesitate to make statements of this character, or to support them by the blackest perjury. These charges of bribery are the counterblast of scoundrels who by their conduct again illustrate the saying that there is no vice so simple but assumes some mark of virtue on its outward parts. Men who have set aside the will of the people, defied the law, refused to obey the mandate of their own highest court and stolen the government of a state, say there have been attempts upon their virtue which they have rejected with an indignation worthy of honorable men! This is pretty and cheap. But even if there have been efforts to hire men who never were elected to occupy seats which this most consummate piece of political rascality has awarded them, the fact could afford no justification of the original crime.

This business in Maine, considering its methods and objects, is the most serious assault yet made upon the freedom of elections and the system of government by majorities. It is a premonition of a desperate effort to be made by the more unscrupulous sort of democratic politicians to seize the presidency without regard to the actual and honest result of the election to be held next November. But as usual the managers have overdone the thing and revealed their scheme too soon.

THE WRONG TO OUR INTERESTS.

The Pennsylvania steel company is a corporation having a capital of one million dollars. It turns out 200,000 tons of steel rails a year. This capital of one million pays a profit of four millions annually. It is the tariff on rails that gives the enormous advantage. By this tariff the price of the rails is enhanced to an oppressive extent, and those parts of the country which must buy rails are forced to pay it. At this time there are ten thousand tons of foreign and twenty thousand tons of domestic rails afloat for Oregon and Washington, or to be shipped and to arrive before the close of the present year. The cost of these rails to our section is at least twenty dollars a ton more than it would be but for the heavy duty. Here is a total of $600,000 which our companies must pay for these rails beyond the price at which they could be obtained but for the "protection" claimed by eastern manufacturers, whose annual profits in the business are four times the capital invested in it.

We export largely from the Pacific states. It should be true that a country which exports much should have one of the most essential conditions of prosperity. With us, however, this does not exist to the extent it should, because our trade is so hampered and shackled by an erroneous policy. But let sound principles prevail; allow our people to buy ships to carry their products to the best markets,—which they are now prohibited from doing by the navigation laws; let them sell their products then at the best prices they can get and buy as cheaply as they can articles of necessity and luxury to bring home, without paying a "protective" duty, and we shall see at once the great advantages of [illegible] commerce to the [illegible] and an interchange of commodities. From the Pacific states we ship annually say thirty million bushels of wheat. Our laws force us to pay twelve million dollars [illegible] to strangers instead of ourselves, and then to complete this unequal policy we must make purchases in eastern states on terms which oblige us to sacrifice from thirty to fifty per cent of our money for the "protection" of monopolies of which Pennsylvania and Massachusetts are at the head and front. A writer from California in the New York Evening Post well says that the result of this [illegible] traffic is that we of the Pacific states save but little more than half our crop, while shippers chiefly British, carry [illegible] profits, the government gets no duties worth mentioning, and the rich beggars for the "protection of American interests" ride at the head of the procession.

For correction of some of the worst and most oppressive features of this policy a series of bills has been introduced in the present congress; but since the monopolists are so strong it is almost too much to hope that any real relief can be had till the country shall have been thoroughly awakened to the subject as a special issue. If the old sectional controversy between the north and south were ended, as it should be, this question would come at once to the front.

The wheat market in New York, Chicago and Milwaukee, sustained so long at speculative prices by a combination which sought to control the whole supply of American wheat, with a view to compelling the English consumer to pay their price for it two or three months hence, has broken badly. Vast sums have been lost. A few days ago the extraordinary spectacle was presented of wheat being quoted at Chicago at $1 35, at New York $1 48, and at London only $1 42. The wheat was all the same quality, being classed as "No. 2 Spring." It is evident that the speculation has proceeded too far on the supposed necessities of the foreign buyer.

Maine produces a class of statesmen whose methods in politics run singularly in the same way. How remarkably Gov. Garcelon's returning board practices correspond with those of Gov. Grover has somehow escaped attention heretofore. Grover could set up an electoral college and Garcelon could create a legislature, and both could nullify the declared will of the people to do it. Grover got his start in Maine. He and Garcelon are products of the same school.

At the dinner in New York on forefathers' day Gen. Sherman made some remarks on the Indian which produced much comment. He said he pitied the Indian, but he "must do something for a living or get out of the way." To this there was a hearty response, which indicated that there are yet eastern people who have not taken leave of their senses on the Indian question.

THE BRITISH QUARTERLIES.

The last issue of The London Quarterly Review from the press of the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay street, N. Y., is a very good number of that famous periodical.

The first article, "Pascal and his Editors," sketches the story of the revived interest in that very remarkable man, and gives an account of his character, writings and place in history, and of the two works on which his fame chiefly rests.

Following this we have "The College of Physicians," a history of the college established in London in 1518, with sketches of some of its more notable members; "Albert Durer," his career considered from three points of view—his time, his life, and his works; and "The Founder of Norwich Cathedral," a memoir of Herbert Loringa, giving a partial glimpse of average ecclesiastical life in England during the middle ages; and "Joseph de Maistre on Russia."

The article on Froude's "Cæsar" discusses the great political issues of the time and the character of the men who took the leading part in the struggles of the Roman revolution.

An interesting paper on "The Weather and its Prediction" traces the rise of existing systems, their methods of working, their alleged results, and the prospects of the future advancement of the science. It acknowledges that the system of weather notices in force in the United States is the most complete.

A very readable article on "Henry IV. of France" brings together the most remarkable events of his life, by way of introduction to the critical examination of his character.

The reprint of the last number of the Westminster Review, lately issued by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay street, N. Y., is full, as usual, of articles on subjects of interest at the present time.

The paper on "The Federation of the English Empire" is devoted to a consideration of the question of representation, and the arrangement of the revenue and expenditure, and urges the adoption of a political system to embrace all the colonial possessions.

As the land question is now rising into importance in England, we find an article on "The Law of Real Property," in which the inconveniences of the present laws on the subject are forcibly portrayed.

"The Indian Mutiny" is an epitome of the great rising in 1857, based on Col. Malleson's recent history of the same.

A long article on Prince Bismarck is intended to exhibit fairly the quality and temper of his statesmanship. It appears to be very impartial in its measure of praise and blame.

The recent publications relating to Lord Brougham have afforded the material for an article on that famous lawyer and statesman. The sketch of his life and the estimate of his career, derived from a comparison of Campbell's narrative and his own autobiography, is well worth reading.

"India and our Colonial Empire" is a summary of recent events in the British colonies.

Other articles are "Cavour and Lamarmora," "The Bohemians and Slovaks," and the customary short account of the principal recent publications under the head of "Contemporary Literature."

The periodicals reprinted by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co. (41 Barclay street, N. Y.) are as follows: The London Quarterly, Edinburgh, Westminster, and British Quarterly Reviews and Blackwood's Magazine. Price, $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the postage is prepaid by the publishers.

Some Ducal Eccentricities.

[From The Echo.]

The Duke of Portland had not a few eccentricities, chief among which was his love for subterranean building. He spent vast sums upon alterations and additions to his magnificent mansion at Welbeck, which was jealously guarded from the profane eyes of the vulgar. His grace loved burrowing like a mole. He constructed underground passages from the cellars to the servants' department, and an underground railway to convey the dishes from the kitchen to the dining room. A few years back he constructed an underground library, consisting of three rooms 1– feet in height, 32 feet in width, and in all 236 feet in length, the roof being level with the surface of the ground. Twenty-four skylights provide for light in the day time, which is softened by silk curtains made in France. The library is built with double walls, to protect the books against damp.

At Welbeck Abby everything is on the most magnificent scale; there is a picture gallery with glass walls, which may be lighted at night with many hundreds of gas burners, and a riding school with gas jets numbered by thousands. The stables have stalls for nearly a hundred horses, every stall being fitted with tiles and polished brass. When his friends had a battue, he had an iron kitchen dragged out on wheels so that they might enjoy a hot meal without having the trouble to walk to the house for it. He had laid the foundations of a subterranean church near the mansion, which was to be 174 feet long by 61 feet wide, but we do not know whether it was ever completed. The park contains about forty lodges, each with underground outhouses lighted with skylights. A right of way existed across one part of it, so the duke accommodated the public by constructing a tunnel a mile and a half long, lighted from the top by circular windows of plate-glass. His grace has at times made large purchases of land in Caithness. Doubtless the numerous tenants of the duke of Portland in Marylebone will be interested in hearing in what curious ways their noble landlord expended his vast income.

The Pay of Preachers.

[From the New York Examiner and Chronicle (Baptist).]

A religious paper quotes contrasts, made by one of the New York dailies in the year's income of certain notable preachers and notable actors. The disparity is so great as to be four or five times in favor of the actors. But what of it? What lesson does it teach? Because a star actor gets $100,000 a year, does it follow that Dr. Hall ought to bolt against receiving less than a sixth part of the amount for serving the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church as its pastor? If so, why not go a little further, and say that because a Wall street man made half a million of dollars in the stock [illegible] of a single week, that, therefore, it is unjust that a man like Dr. Hall, who [illegible] a great deal more than the Wall street men, should work hard the whole year for almost nothing in comparison with that week's profits?

The Brooklyn Eagle, New York Sun, Boston Post, [illegible] Courier-Journal, Cincinnati Enquirer, [illegible] Public Ledger, Albany Argus, Hartford Times, Omaha Herald, Springfield Republican, Pittsburg Post, Detroit Free Press, and St. Louis Republican are for Tilden first, last and all the time, and [illegible] of other important newspapers whose editors have not yet been "seen" by Sly Sammy.

CITY.

CAME TO GRIEF —A man named Bill White who has served a term in the penitentiary called a few days ago at Kerron & Macbeth's store and purchased a bill of goods amounting to $100 White claimed to be Jesse [illegible] of Washington county The package was made up and [illegible] the money was produced which [illegible] the seller not having [illegible] handkerchief claiming he would return with the coin and [illegible] The proprietors suspecting [illegible] found him entering a disreputable whisky [illegible] They [illegible] and compelled him to acknowledge the offense and restore the property White is about half crazy and has frequently tried the same game He had a short time previous negotiated for a [illegible] of cigars amounting to $80 at a prominent wholesale house but neglected to return and consummate the trade

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE —About five o'clock yesterday afternoon a Bavarian bearing the euphonious name of Oswald Kortzabler who lives at the edge of the gulch west of Fourth street bridge, went into the Chicago Exchange saloon on First street between Salmon and Main, and striking a tragic attitude drew a revolver, placed it at his head and fired He is an awfully bad marksman The ball whizzed past his ear and perforated a picture hanging near the ceiling He then placed the muzzle of the revolver over his heart and pulled the trigger but the weapon missed fire The bystanders who had seen enough of the fun, took the revolver from him and sent him home. The cause of the attempt, as Sol Smith Russell facetiously expresses it was a chronic case of mother-in-law

MOVEMENTS OF STEAMERS —According to the dates of sailing as published some time ago in THE OREGONIAN the steamship Oregon was to have sailed from San Francisco for Portland Monday forenoon Last evening a dispatch was received here to the effect that the Oregon would not sail until next Saturday morning That steamer did not arrive at San Francisco until last Saturday and as she could not load with freight and sail Monday, it was concluded by the company to delay the date of sailing until the next regular date announced (Jan 17th) The State of California was announced to sail on that date, but she will not sail until the 21st inst. By this arrangement each steamer will be held back one trip

SEVERELY INJURED —A contemporary contains the following incident that happened to a little daughter of Mr Campbell of East Portland The child was hurrying home from school when struck by a piece of flying plank, torn from the sidewalk by the wind, and painfully injured. A nail that protruded from the boards and pierced the head and penetrated the girl's brain Her mind has been wandering since the accident and her condition is quite critical The little sufferer is one of twins and is known as a bright and promising child.

BUSINESS CHANGES —The firm of Koch Mansfield & Co have given up business in this city, and removed to San Francisco Mr Koch goes into the wholesale grocery business in partnership with Henry Levy, Esq Mr Mansfield has accepted a traveling position with a well known firm Both gentlemen are energetic business men and made many friends during their residence here Mr E K Williams continues as manager for Raymond & Wilshire, for Oregon and Washington territory, with headquarters in the [illegible] block corner Front and Ash.

GUS MILLER'S BENEFIT.—Last evening a large and enthusiastic audience filled Turn Hall, it being the occasion of a complimentary benefit tendered Gus Miller who has long officiated as teacher of the acrobatic section of the Turners of Portland. The programme was well selected and highly entertaining, and was creditably carried out in every particular, and at the conclusion of the gymnastic and musical part ended in a social hop.

CONDITION OF THE STATE HOUSE —Heavy gales of Sunday and Monday nights had the effect of further loosening the tin roofing of the state house, and nothing but continued endeavors on the part of the workmen employed prevented the water from soaking through the floor and entering the various government offices beneath Additional tarpaulins have been secured and hopes are entertained that further damage will not result.

ADDRESSING THE FAITHFUL —Gen Joseph Lane, of Roseburg, Col. W H Effinger, of this city, Judge L. C. Bradshaw of Yamhill county, and two other prominent democrats, were at work yesterday preparing an address to the democracy relative to their duty in the coming campaign Much curiosity is expressed among the politicians of both parties as to what kind of a document they will present. It will be made public in a few days.

COMMISSIONS ISSUED —By request of his excellency Gov. Thayer the following military commissions were yesterday issued from the office of the secretary of state J J Dorney, captain, P. N Keegan, 1st lieutenant, James Fay, 2d lieutenant, company B, Emmet Guards, Portland, and also to Erbin Bird 1st Lieut. Co. A, Portland Light Battery

WILL REBUILD —Capt Wm J Buchanan owner of the building on First street near the Clarendon, which was demolished Friday, will rebuild without delay Workmen were engaged yesterday in clearing away the debris, preparatory to laying a foundation. The new building will be two stories high and have a frontage of fifty feet on Front street.

ADDITIONAL DAMAGES —During the storm of Friday, the smoke stack of McLeran's planing mill, corner of Fourth and H streets, was blown down and for a while the building was in great danger of catching fire from the sparks. The consequential damages of having to shut down for several days until repairs were made, are quite heavy

MEETING.—An adjourned meeting of St. [illegible]'s guild will be held this day at half-past two o'clock in the room adjoining the chapel. A punctual attendance is requested, as matters of importance will be laid before the meeting.

THE NEW PAPER —The first number of the Sunday Mercury will not be issued until a week from next Sunday as the transportation of type and material was delayed by the storm's blockade.

UNLOCKED.—The river has fallen sufficiently to admit of the passage of boats through the locks at Oregon City, and the steamers have resumed their regular trips

NOT ARRIVED IN SAN FRANCISCO —A telegram to THE OREGONIAN states that the State of California had not arrived in San Francisco at 8.30 last night

We are still unable to present reports from the Sound It is promised however that connection will be made to day and the information so much desired will probably arrive [illegible]

ALONG THE N P R R

All Trains Delayed—Two Men Frozen to Death

Connection was made yesterday by the Astoria boat with the cars at Kalama The train bound for Kalama was caught last Friday evening in a very heavy snow storm at Tenino The snow was lying on the track to the depth of 30 inches and the locomotive in its effort to make headway got off the track It was found that the locomotive could not be got back while the snow was so deep The train was compelled to remain at the station until Monday morning when a locomotive with a snow plow arrived The snow was cleared off and the ditched locomotive was placed on the track The road in many places was blocked by landslides Over these obstructions a temporary track was laid and after surmounting great difficulties the train reached Kalama in safety No one was injured

The weather was not cold notwithstanding the snow and the passengers got along quite comfortably during the time the train was snowbound

Mr Welsh the mail agent on the train reports very little timber down along the line of the road Only a few trees were thrown across the track No heavy wind was experienced by the delayed train The track is being put in as good condition as possible for the present There will probably be no further delays of the regular trains between Kalama and Tacoma

The snow at Tacoma is reported to be thirty five inches deep on a level

The train which arrived at Kalama yesterday brought no letters beyond Tacoma

So far as Mr Welsh could learn there has been no loss of life or limb from the wind storm but two men were reported having frozen to death

The train that left Kalama Friday morning arrived at Tacoma at about noon Monday Found on the way a dead man—frozen—(his name was Mason) near Yelm station a few steps from the track The train returned, leaving Tacoma at 2 30 o clock arriving at Kalama at 11 o'clock P M reports four and one half feet of snow on the ground at Tacoma

A young man named Randle who for several years has been clerking in Meeker's store at Puyallup station started for home last Saturday evening, taking his blankets He lived a few miles from the station. He was found frozen to death Sunday morning a few yards from home The blankets were found some fifty yards from the body

The weather is reported only moderately cold—just a few degrees above the freezing point Those unfortunate men must have laid down and falling asleep were frozen to death

AT UMATILLA.

The Storm Strikes with Terrific Force and Prevails for Several Hours at 90 Miles per Hour—The Town Devastated

UMATILLA, JAN 10.

The 9th of January was a day fraught with eventful memory for this place, as on that day a tremendous gale of wind swept over the town of Umatilla leaving havoc and ruin in its wake For the past fortnight the weather has been very windy heavy winds prevailing each day The first warning had of yesterday's storm was the sudden sinking of the barometer and a long line of gray black clouds lying along the western horizon. At half past twelve the wind began to blow from the southwest and by two o'clock had attained a velocity of sixty miles per hour, as indicated by the instruments in the U S signal station The wind increased in violence up to five o clock, when it rushed on its way at the rate of eighty miles per hour with the violence of a hurricane. The town was taken literally by storm Boards, shingle roofs and debris were borne through the air with terrific violence Great clouds of sand enveloped the doomed town The waters of the Columbia were lashed into angry waves and sheets of flying foam At 6 o clock the wind began to subside and an inspection of the town revealed the alarming damages E N Steinfeld's livery stable roof blown off building a wreck J M Lezer's tin shop entire front blown out and his adjoining house blown down, Union hotel front blown out and the stage stable wrecked J H Koontz's warehouse roof blown away John S Foster & Co's store entire front blown into the street and wagon shed and stable damaged portion of roof of stone warehouse blown away Brindley's wagon shop was moved two feet from its foundation outbuildings were overturned and signs wrenched from their moorings A large scow belonging to the O S N Co was swept on to the beach but not injured. The pecuniary damage will foot well up into the thousands. Fortunately no lives were lost nor was any one injured so far as ascertained The telegraph line was severely dealt with,—the numerous breaks attesting the heavy wind It is feared that great damage has been done in the outlying country reports from which have not yet been received By 7 40 P M the wind died down to a fitful breeze, and the stars came out beautifully clear The variation in the morning and evening readings of the barometer was 1¾ inches.

Additional Details.

Mr J H. Kunzie, writing to Mr John R. Foster of this city under date of the 10th inst. gives the facts reported in the dispatch above with the following additional particulars:

All buildings in town have patches torn from the roofs and a number of woodsheds, stables and fences are damaged or blown down Signs boards and shingles are scattered everywhere. Brindley's wagon shop was moved two feet from its foundation From the readings in the morning to the time the storm commenced, the barometer fell from 30 to 28 28 or 1¾ inches It is feared that great damage has been done in the country here about to buildings fences, haystacks stock etc Had the storm occurred at night even greater destruction of property would have occurred and probably some lives lost We put all fires out, and attempted to secure houses by braces ropes etc but in a number of cases the timbers were broke, and the ropes snapped like twine We [Foster & Co] are damaged about $300, and several other firms from $300 to $1,000

ALONG THE COLUMBIA

List of Disasters—The Usual Story of "Barns, Fences Etc"

Mr Johnson engineer of the steamer Traveler which runs between this city and Parker's Landing on the Columbia river furnishes the following items

One hundred and fifty feet of the race way at Hester mill six miles above Vancouver was blown down

A Mr Jamison 2½ miles from Washougal, had his house taken up by the wind while the family was at dinner leaving the lower floor on the place where the house stood The rest of the house was carried 150 feet down the hill and smashed to pieces No one was hurt

Mr Shepard had a large shed blown down

Mr Stott on Sandy had one of his large barns blown down

George Hart near Washougal had part of the roof of his barn torn off

John Hart near Sunny Side had his house and barn prostrated

Mr Allen Kerns at the same place had his barn blown down

Davis Wright of the same place had his barn moved from its foundation

A valuable cow belonging to Mr Surber of the same place was killed

Wm Leaverton on Grove island had his house moved from its foundation

Mr Scott who lives on the south side of the river near the lower end of government island had his barn [illegible] half of it [illegible] falling in the river and [illegible] away

Alonzo Wright opposite Rooster Rock had his barn partly unroofed

B W Jones of Mill Plain had his barn blown down

[illegible] Davis [illegible] Mill Plain [illegible] barn blown down

Two [illegible] houses on [illegible] were blown down

[illegible]

THE WEST SIDE.

The O & C R R Opened to Gaston—Effects of the Storm in Southeastern Clackamas

[illegible] inches of snow [illegible]

A gentleman [illegible] South Yamhill yesterday reports [illegible]

[illegible] the [illegible] in [illegible] and [illegible] damage [illegible]

[illegible] the vicinity [illegible] bridge was not more than one tree out of twenty [illegible] half a mile [illegible] this city on the Boone's ferry road was [illegible] away as was the Fields bridge the lower [illegible] bridge on the [illegible] was also carried away [illegible] were blown down in the [illegible] of Oswego, and the coal shed of the [illegible] works at that place was blown down The roads are blockaded with fallen trees [illegible] Mr F Field [illegible] coming in on horseback yesterday was four hours in traveling a six and a half mile stretch ending at the macadamized road Many cattle were injured [illegible] timber

In the neighborhood of Beaverton and Glencoe a great deal of damage was [illegible] The bridge [illegible] the main span [illegible] Wooley [illegible]

ALBANY

The Bell Tower Damaged—Fences and Signs Blown Down Etc Etc

ALBANY Jan [illegible]

The storm commenced about [illegible] o'clock A M and continued [illegible] o'clock P M The [illegible] between Washington and [illegible] was thrust down from [illegible] saved by the alarm [illegible] the fire department [illegible] its rescue The [illegible] at the railroad [illegible] was [illegible] and now lies in ruins

The top of the chimney on Mr John Briggs two story building on First street was blown down and came through the skylight greatly to the surprise of some limbs of the law who were engaged in taking depositions in an adjoining office

Numerous signs were torn from their hangings and others were saved only by anchoring them to the sidewalk Many outbuildings in the city were blown over A great deal of fencing is blown down The roof of a barn belonging to Mr William Paul was torn from its resting place and carried some distance Though the storm was not so severe in this vicinity as in other places the damage is hard to estimate

MOLLALA

The Gale in its Full Fury—Barns Unroofed, Fences Overthrown and Forests Demolished

MOLLALA Jan [illegible]

From 1 P M to 4 P M there prevailed the most terrific and furious wind storm this section of Oregon has ever seen Houses barns fences trees etc offered no obstruction to the angry element The losses in this little place of but a few houses will amount to several hundred dollars and nearly every farmer in this vicinity will be loser more or less Barns seemed to furnish for the master of the occasion the most tempting inducements for at least half in this neighborhood were unroofed

The road from this place to Aurora (distant about 12 miles) partly through heavy fir timber is impassable for a team and it will take the supervisor and a large force of men many days to clear the track

MISCELLANEOUS

Brief Reports from Various Localities

The force of the storm was not nearly so great in the Umpqua as in the Willamette valley The greatest velocity of the wind at Roseburg as recorded at the signal service office was 27 miles per hour

Capt Babbidge of the Bonita, reports that a number of barns and buildings were blown down along Willamette slough and the ruins could be seen from the boat He reports that the storm played havoc with the timber in many places So far as ascertained no lives were lost.

Thomas Hodgkin proprietor of the fishery at Quinn's Landing on the lower Columbia river reports that during Friday's storm his shed 85 feet in length besides a large warehouse fishing tools and fishing nets were all blown into the stream and lost.

It is reported that at the penitentiary the damage by the wind and rain is far more than at first anticipated and that the rain has wet the plastering and some of the rooms are completely flooded It is hard to estimate the probable damage as the leakage cannot be stopped until the rain ceases

The large hill back of Lambert's orchard, near Milwaukie was nearly stripped of timber The owner says that not more than one tree in every 200 remains standing

HORRIBLE ATROCITY.

Jacob Swanger Murdered near his Home in Washington County—The Motives for the Deed.

Friday morning a gentleman living two miles north of the Springville road and seven miles north of Hillsboro went to the cabin of Jacob Swanger, a neighbor, on a matter of business and was shocked by the sight of a large spot of blood stained snow about fifty feet from the house, blood tracks to the cabin a severed human hand, and evident traces of a terrible struggle He hastened to the cabin, but found all doors locked He speedily summoned another neighbor Both forced their way into the cabin and were horrified to find the dead body of Swanger his head crushed to a jelly his right arm off just above the wrist and the floor besmeared with blood and brains

Of the circumstances connected with the murder nothing is definitely known Swanger was a bachelor about fifty five or sixty years old and lived the life of a hermit It was generally understood that he was wealthy and that he had considerable money about his house It is evident that the victim was murdered Thursday night because snow had not fallen to any great depth until that time that the horrible deed was committed with an ax and by some persons who were acquainted with the life and habits of Swanger The foot prints of a man were traced half a mile from the scene of the murder to a road, but beyond that were lost It is also evident from foot prints around the bloody snow that more than one person was engaged in the diabolical murder Robbery could have been their only object, as Swanger was not known to have an enemy

A coroner's inquest was held at Hillsboro Monday afternoon but the verdict of the jury could not be learned Every effort is being made to discover the murderers and it is thought they will suffer the penalty of their crime without the formalities of a trial, if caught and their guilt satisfactorily established

BUSINESS NOTICES.

John Cran & Co announce that they will commence this morning a clean sweep of all their remnants which they will continue for one week They offer special bargains in dress goods, white goods, table linen, towels, lunch cloths, embroidery black and colored silks chintz lace curtains and particularly in hosiery A specialty in sacrifices are 100 silk umbrellas at $2 75 each Cran & Co have made no false promises to their patrons in the past and when they advertise bargains it is safe to presume that purchasers will be sure to get them

MILITARY NOTES

PRESIDENTIAL PREFERENCES.

Interviews with 123 Republicans of this City.

Blaine Way Ahead—A Neck and Neck Race between Grant and Sherman —Washburn Looming Up

MARKED OPPOSITION TO A THIRD TERM

During the past few days reporters of THE OREGONIAN have interviewed one hundred and twenty three republicans and with two or three exceptions resulting in [illegible] ascertaining their preference for the various presidential candidates These inquiries extended to every class of men and were made at random and not in the interest or with reference to any of the distinguished gentlemen whose candidacy has been discussed The questions asked were simply 'who is your choice for the presidency and considering him out of the race whom would you next prefer' The result of these interviews excepting in instances and they were numerous where parties had not determined upon their own opinions or declined to make them public are given below These persons as well as those more frank with scarcely an exception declared their intention of voting for the republican nominee whoever he may be confident of the prudence and judgment of the convention

D J Malarkey commission merchant —No particular candidate but I don't want Grant Rather prefer Blaine of the balance of the candidates

Wm Wadhams wholesale grocer —Blaine If it were not for the precedent of a third term would prefer Grant

S G Skidmore druggist —Have no choice Grant would suit me as well as any one else

J H Guild of the O S N Co —Sherman first choice Blaine next Am opposed to Conkling and Grant.

R R Herman signal service officer—Blaine Sherman or Washburne with a leaning toward the first named Grant under no circumstances

J L Atkinson real estate agent—Blaine first Washburne next Would rather not see Grant nominated.

Charles Hodge wholesale druggist—I have no choice but don't want Grant

Wm Gallick commission merchant—First choice Grant but would be satisfied with Blaine Sherman or Washburne

D W Wakefield, real estate agent—Blaine first then Washburne

O Summers crockery merchant—Blaine all the time

R Jacobs wholesale merchant—Blaine first choice Think the country needs Grant but I don't believe he can be elected

Col J McCracken president board of trade —Of all the prominent candidates I slightly prefer Blaine

Prominent ex sea captain—Any good republican except Grant (Seeing the reporter write in his note book) Please don't publish my name I don't want to see it in print Put it down Cash '

James Lotan, superintendent Willamet Iron Works—Blaine

P C Schuyler, insurance agent—First choice B H Bristow second R B Hayes

Rev J A Cruzan pastor Congregational church—Washburne Sherman second choice

J A Child, druggist—Sherman, then Blaine

D P Burns, deputy U S marshal—Grant then Blaine

Capt N S Pierce, postal official—J G Blaine above all others

TWO MURDEROUS ASSAULTS

O S Murry Arrested for Cutting H N Skinner and Thos Watts for Brutally Striking Harry Lynch.

About 6 o'clock last night O S Murry and H N Skinner [illegible] in a quarrel [illegible] the Warwick house on Front street [illegible] Murry drew a small pocket knife [illegible] Skinner [illegible] and stabbed him just under the [illegible] Murry was arrested and a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon written opposite his name on the [illegible] Murry states that he struck Skinner with his fist only The cause of the difficulty [illegible] was an [illegible] intimacy between Skinner and Murry's wife

HIS THREAT IS IN [illegible] EXECUTION

It will be remembered that Thomas Watts was arrested and taken before Justice Wiley about a month ago charged with threatening to kill A J Lynch, proprietor of the [illegible] house on First street between [illegible] The case was compromised [illegible] Last night a few minutes after [illegible] Lynch was going out of the water closet in the rear of his house he was struck two violent blows upon the head by some [illegible] instrument—either a small bar of iron or a heavy piece of wood Dr W H Saylor [illegible] dressed the wounds [illegible] caused concussion [illegible] may prove fatal Lynch who was [illegible] identified Watts as the man who dealt the blows The alleged assailant was arrested by Officer Stevenson and lodged in the city jail Watts has frequently expressed the sentiment The town is too small to hold Lynch and me at the same time He stated however after his arrest that he was eating supper at the [illegible] when the assault was committed and that he will be able to prove it

Two Large Barges and a New Steamboat to be Built at The Dalles

[From the Inland Empire 10th inst]

On Wednesday morning of this week John J Holland began the work of building two large barges for the purpose of carrying railroad material and grain between here and the Cascades The first of these is 220 feet long and 40 feet beam and will be housed in like the Hurtless The other will be sharp at [illegible] end and with [illegible] decks As soon as these barges are out of the way he will commence the construction of a new steamer 160 feet in length to carry the Grace's machinery now being worked over at the shops She will have a half cabin like that on the John Gates with ten passenger staterooms besides rooms for her officers Her propelling power being very abundant she will probably be a fast boat and she is to be built very strongly to enable her to perform the winter service during the period of ice in the river She will therefore be the successor of the Idaho which has done good service and will shortly be broken up for want of use Having a boat to tow these barges will be of great aid to the company as it will prevent their passenger boats from being delayed by doing this work Business of all kinds will be pretty lively this summer as Chief Engineer Thielsen states that he will have 155 box cars and ten passenger coaches built here Also he says that the road will be built from both ends at once thus [illegible] in the middle Lively times may be expected here and all along the line

The Hair of the Presidents.

In the postoffice at Washington there are many objects of considerable interest connected with the Government and those who administered its affairs in times gone by. While examining these curiosities, nothing struck us so forcibly as the samples of small locks of hair taken from the heads of different chief magistrates, from Washington down to President Pierce, all secured in a frame covered with glass. Here is, in fact, a part and parcel of what constituted the living bodies of those illustrious individuals whose names are familiar as household words, but who now live only in history and the remembrance of the past.

The hair of Washington is nearly of a pure white, fine and smooth in its appearance.

That of John Adams is nearly the same in color, though perhaps a little coarser.

That of Jefferson is of a very different character, being a mixture of white and auburn, and rather coarse. In his youth Mr. Jefferson's hair was remarkable for its bright color.

That of Madison is coarse, and of a mixed white and dark.

The hair of Monroe is of a handsome dark auburn, smooth, and free from any mixture. He is the only ex-President, excepting Pierce, whose hair has undergone no change in color.

The hair of John Quincy Adams is somewhat peculiar, being coarse, and of a yellowish gray color.

That of Gen Jackson is almost perfectly white, but coarse in its character, as might be supposed by those who have examined the portraits of the old heror

That of Van Buren is quite white and smooth in appearance.

That of Gen. Harrison is a fine white, with a slight mixture of black.

That of John Tyler is a mixture of white and brown.

That of James K. Polk is almost pure white.

That of Gen. Taylor, is white, with a slight mixture of brown.

That of Millard Fillmore is, on the other hand, brown, with a slight mixture of white.

That of Franklin Pierce is dark brown, of which he had a plentiful crop.

It is somewhat remarkable that since Pierce's time no one has thought of preserving the hair of his successors. There are vacancies in the case, but there is no hair either of Buchanan, Lincoln, Johnson or Grant, for the inspection of futurity

A FARMER WHO SOLD HIMSELF.—They tell a good story of a correctionville farmer who sold a load of corn at that town the other day. When it was weighed he slyly stepped off the scales, and then drove off to unload. When the wagon was weighed he took good care not to be in it, and congratulated himself that he had played it on the buyer in good shape. The grain-dealer called him in, and, after figuring up the load, paid him in full. As he buttoned up his coat to go go out, the buyer kindly asked him to smoke with him, and then talked over the crops and the price of hogs, and the likelihood of the Maple Valley railroad building up that way, till the farmer fairly squirmed in his chair with uneasiness about his chores at home. At last he could stand it no longer, and said he must go. The dealer quietly said that was not to be thought of that he had bought the farmer at full weight and paid him his own price, and that he would insist on doing as he pleased with his own property. The raiser of corn saw that he had indeed sold himself, in one sense at least. He acknowledged the corn—as it were—and compromised the affair. Now when he markets grain he don't stand on the scales.—[Sioux City Journal.

THE RAIN TREE.—Some travelers in Columbia, South America, in travering an arid and desolate tract of country, were struck with a strange contrast. On one side there was a barren desert; on the other a rich luxuriant vegetation. The French Consul at Loretc, Mexico, says that this remarkable contrast is due to the presence of the "Tamai caspi," or the rain tree. This tree grows to the height of ninety feet, with a diameter of three feet at its base, and possesses the power of strongly attracting, absorbing and condensing the humidity of the atmosphere. Water is always to be seen dripping from its trunk in such quantity as to convert the surrounding soil into a veritable march. It is in summer especially, when the rivers are nearly dried up, that the tree is most active. If this admirable quantity of the rain tree was utilized in the arid regions near the equator, the people there, living in misery on account of the unproductive soil, would derive great advantages from its introduction, as well as the people of more favored countries where the climate is dry and drouths are frequent.

The reason capital punishment is becoming unpopular is because there is a growing aversion to leaving a man in suspense.

"An honest confession is good for the soul." Won't some eccentric genius come out with an honest confession, just for the sake of variety.

The world seems to be plowing through space with augmented celerity just now. A New York genius has contrived a sort of miniature lawn-mower for cutting hair.

A magazine writer says there is a language of the hair. Don't doubt it in the least. At any rate we have heard of tolerably well authenticated cases where a single auburn hair on a dark coatcollar could talk plainer than a guideboard, and furnish material for a whole course of lectures.

One of the finest compliments ever paid to woman was that of Steel, when he said of Lady Hastings, that to have loved her was a liberal education. Viewed in this light, woman is an educator in the highest sense, because she educates humanely and lovingly.

"Some more cheese, please," said a small boy of eight to his papa at dinner. "No, my child," was the reply of the prudent parent: "you have already had enough. When I was a child I had to eat my bread and smell my cheese." "Well," said sonny, "please give me a piece to smell."

A would-be-editor was advised once to try the effect of his writings upon the folks at home, without confessing its authorship. His mother fell asleep, his sister groaned, his brother asked him to shut up, and at last his wife tapped him on the shoulder with the sweetest possible, "Won't that do?"

In the Whole History of Medicine

No preparation has ever performed such marvelous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in the throat and lung disorders of children, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will From their knowledge of its composition and effects, Physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and Clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its remedial effects, and will always cure where cures are possible. For sale by all dealers. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, wholesale agents.

THE GENUINE

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburg, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat diseases Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, can be cured without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

YOUNG MEN

WHO MAY BE SUFFERING from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind, or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin or milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Office Hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8. Sundays from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice, $5. Call or address
